

Effect on Reader Prompts

It makes you
feel that ...

It's the author's way of saying ...

The author
gives the impression
that...

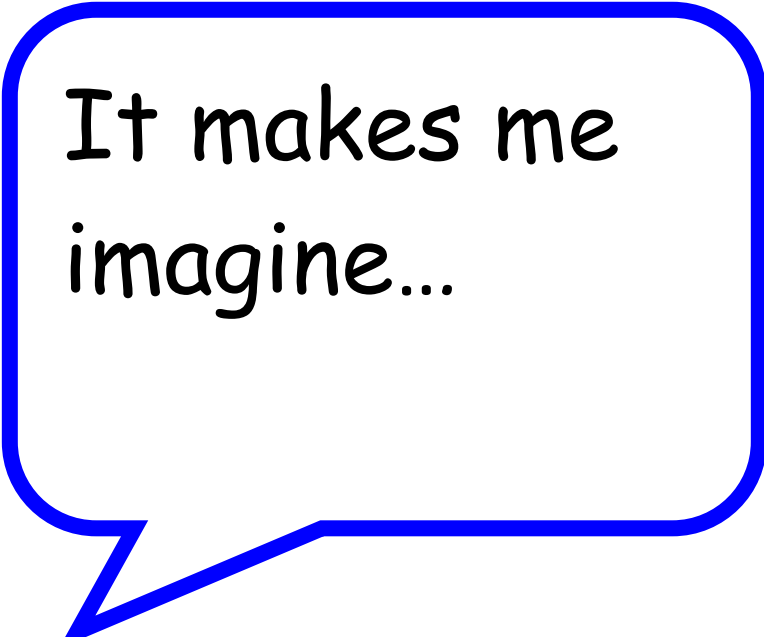

The author wants
to tell the reader
that...

It makes me
imagine...

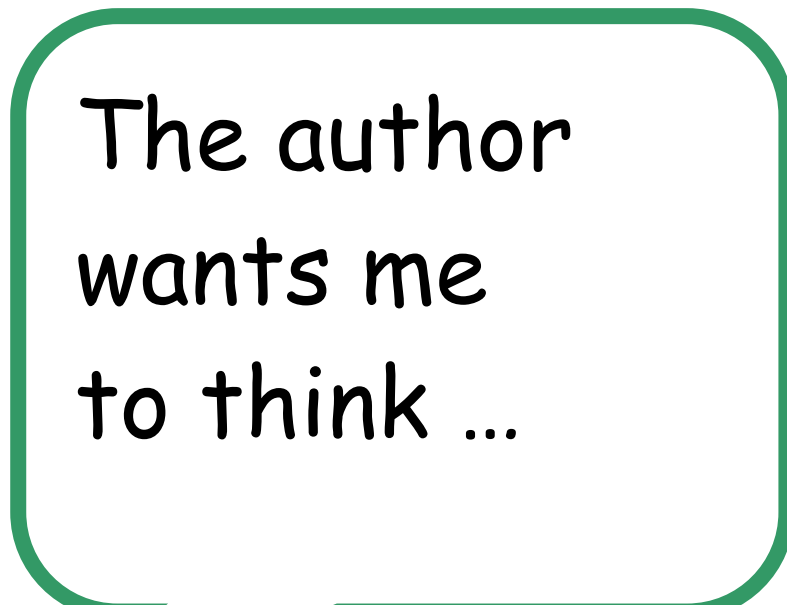

The author
wants me to think ...

It makes you feel
that ...

The author has used this metaphor to
create an image
that ...

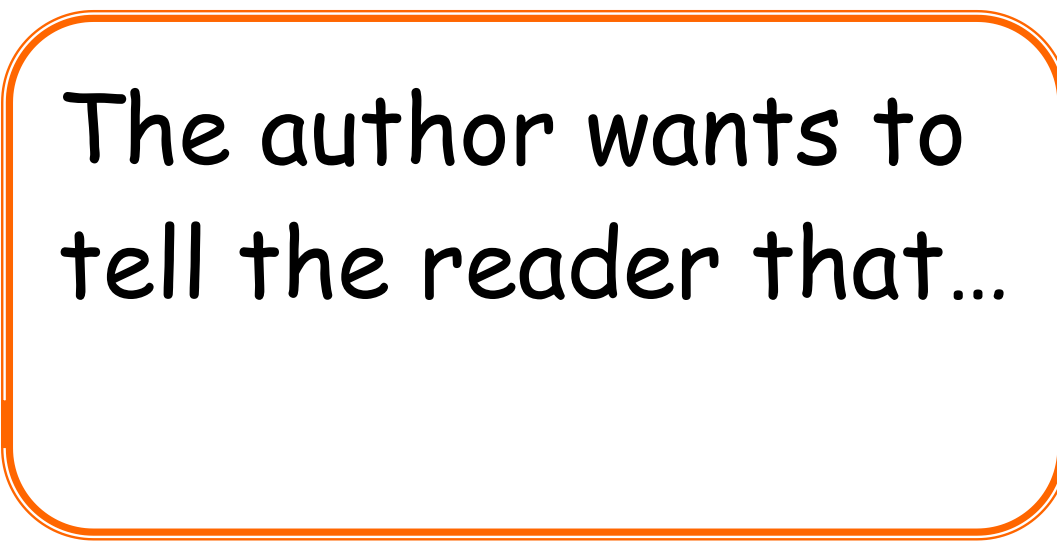

It makes me
imagine...

The author
wants me
to think ...

The author gives the impression that...
when he/she
writes . . .

The author wants to tell the reader that...

A pink speech bubble with a tail pointing towards the bottom-left.

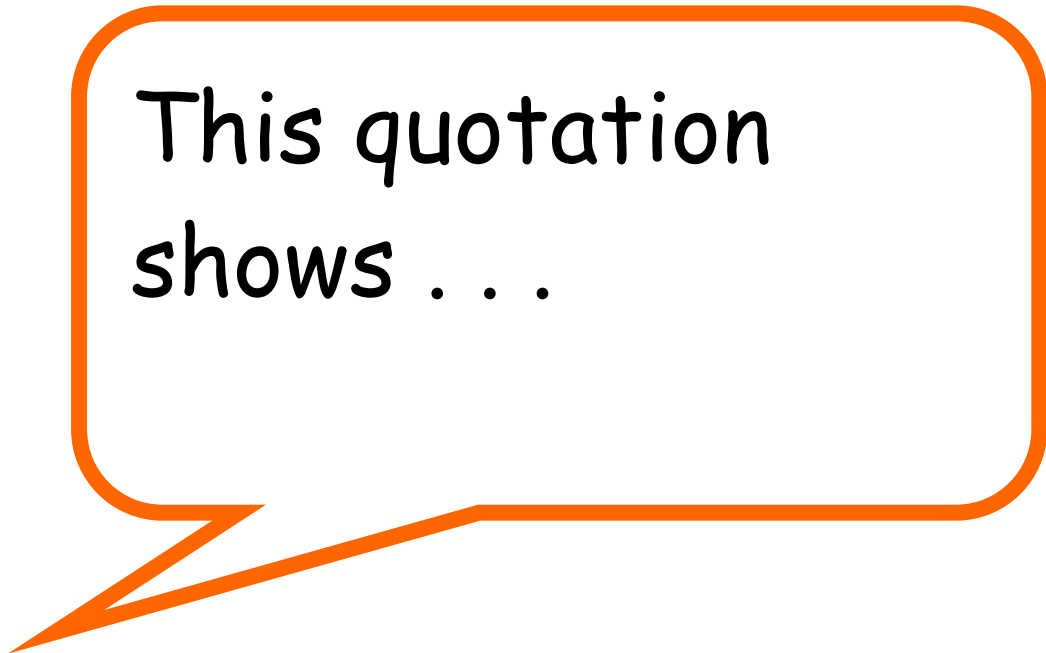

So it makes it
appear that . . .

A green speech bubble with a tail pointing towards the bottom-right.

It makes the reader wonder if . . .

A light blue speech bubble with rounded corners and a tail pointing towards the top-right.

The writer says this to suggest that . . .

An orange speech bubble with rounded corners and a tail pointing towards the bottom-left.

This quotation
shows . . .